

CADET BATTALION AT MOST SUCCESSFUL DANCING PARTY

Fulfilling all promises, the Ogden High school cadet battalion royally entertained about four hundred guests at a dancing party in the high school auditorium last night. The occasion marked the reestablishment of the annual military ball at the school, after an interval of two seasons and excepting the omission of the exhibition drill, the event was as brilliant as those of former years.

The auditorium was elaborately decorated in the national colors, flags, bunting and crepe streamers being utilized in artistic fashion. The center of the scheme was a canopy formed of four immense flags with red, white and blue streamers running from their edges to the four walls. Smaller flags were used for the south and west wall decorations and an immense edition of "Old Glory" was the center of attraction on the south wall, being set off at either side by smaller editions. The front of the stage, below the curtain, was covered with bunting and on the platform immediately behind the footlights guns from the battalion armory were stacked, lending a distinctive military air to the picture. In a central position between the stacked guns, a huge American eagle on a pedestal drew the attention of the crowd. A prettily decorated punch booth occupied the corner of the hall, adjoining the north side of the stage and here the dancers were served with light refreshments throughout the evening.

The souvenir program was unusually artistic and the program of dances was one that met popular favor, the pretty and daintily gowned "co-eds" dancing gaily with the brightly caparisoned cadets, to music from Griffin's orchestra.

Preceding the military ball, the annual banquet of the officers of the battalion was held at the Potter cafe. This was a delightful affair, the tables being tastefully decorated and a fine menu served. Those present were:

Principal and Mrs. J. E. Beeson, Captain W. E. Kneass, N. G. U., cadet commandant; Misses Norma Kent and Theresa Egle of Salt Lake; Misses Myrtle Hesse, Fay Carter, Grace Bond, Lucia McDonald, Thelma Thawn, Jessie Beeson, Bernice Vaughn, Marian Carter and Phyllis Leidel, all of Ogden, and the following officers of the cadet corps:

Commission staff—Captain and adjutant, Carl Smith; first lieutenant, Edwyn Hobbs; second lieutenant, Q. M. George Meissner.

Company A—Captain, William Hibbs; first lieutenant, Holton Dickson; second lieutenant, Ernest Balch.

Company B—Captain, Wilton Conway; first lieutenant, Richard Hamer; second lieutenant, Nathan Heath.

Company C—Captain, Lee Turner; first lieutenant, George Cook; second lieutenant, Herman Griffin.

Captain Milton Conway acted as toastmaster and responses were made by Principal Beeson, Captain Kneass and Captains Smith, Hibbs and Turner, Mrs. Beeson and Miss Hesse.

Primarily responsible for the success of the military ball, not forgetting Harold Tripp, whose talent as an artist was demonstrated in the designing and lettering of the numerous announcement cards displayed in the downtown store windows, were the following committee chairman:

General chairman, Captain C. Smith; finance and banquet, Captain M. Conway; printing and program, Captain Lee Turner; invitation, Lieutenant H. Dixon; reception, Captain William Hibbs; music and floor, Lieutenant H. Griffin; refreshments and door, Lieutenant H. Hibbs; and decorations, Lieutenant George Meissner.

The chairman were loyally assisted by the other members of the cadet battalion.

We are forty

MONDAY, and every day next week, we celebrate the passing of our 41st year in business. Since that humble beginning, 41 years ago, which some of you still remember, this institution has grown every year.

It has been a steady growth—not rapid, but sure. The foundation stones were hewn from the solid rocks of honest dealing; honest merchandising. As the super structure has risen year by year, there has been ever present the determination that each added stone should contain those same sterling qualities.

This 41st Anniversary Celebration shall be characterized, as the former ones have been, by the featuring of good values in good merchandise which emphasize the year.

Nor will the spirit of the occasion be one of commercialism alone. We hope to greet all of our old friends as well of the new ones, and we have reason to believe that many of them will wish us "many happy returns of the day." —
